

Privacy & Cookies Statement

Our website has been programmed to use cookies to help and enhance the user experience. Cookies are small text files that are automatically placed on your computer when you visit our website. The purpose of cookies is to make sure that the website functions correctly, to personalise the website to your preferences, and to collect information about your movements on the site, which will help us improve the website in the future. The vast majority of websites on the internet will use cookies.

As we operate a 'Static' Website, therefore we cannot collect any information that could identify you, or enable any information to be passed onto any third parties.

